Ahimsa Acres Educational Center

Hello, everyone!

EVEN is sponsoring a tour of Ahimsa Acres, and we need an idea of how many would like to attend.

A firm date has not been set yet, but it could be as soon as Saturday, June 25.

If you are interested in attending on this day, or any other, please respond promptly to this email with an affirmative RSVP and the number in your party. The tour is free but space is limited to first come, first served.

This is an excellent opportunity to be inspired by Ahimsa Acres and its co-directors, Dale and Sandy Lugenbehl. Your tour of Ahimsa Acres will be educational, interesting and fun! For decades, Dale and Sandy have been committed to vegan living in their food, clothing, building methods and food growing techniques.

Additional Tour Information:

Ahimsa is a Sanskrit word meaning "without harm or violence" which captures the sort of intentional living that Ahimsa Acres strives to promote.

Located in the countryside outside Cottage Grove, Oregon, Ahimsa Acres is devoted to helping people learn to cope with difficult personal and economic issues, resource depletion, climate change, and the rush and complexity of day-to-day life. This is done by:

- teaching lowering personal consumption,
- permaculture principles to grow food at one's own residence,
- renewable energy and other sustainable technologies,
- conservation, and
- achieving a more peaceful and compassionate inner state through meditation and other practices.

Tours of Ahimsa Acres are narrated and include:

- veganic gardens and orchards,
- uses of solar energy for generating electricity and heating water and heating the residence,
- geothermal energy for cooling,
- gravity powered water catchment systems,
- energy-efficient nontoxic building technologies,
- and more!
- A question and answer period follows the tour.

The Center offers classes, lectures, workshops, personal consulting, and tours of the grounds of Ahimsa Acres. Part of the mission of the Center is to serve as a working model for displaying practices and technologies which further a healing personal and environmental lifestyle.

Ahimsa Acres puts people in touch with educational resources-books, articles, DVD's, mentors-and to provide internships and scholarships for those who are interested in making a strong commitment to living simply and peacefully and teaching others how to do the same.

Ahimsa Acres is a nonprofit educational organization established in 1995.

RSVP to EVEN by responding to this email.

Many thanks for your interest and support of this Ahimsa Acres EVENT.

Looking forward to hearing from you!

All the best,

Lin
